

Changing the Default Product Group

When customers visit their shopping cart (`cart.php`), the products in the default product group display. You can change the default product group to display a different group of products.

The default product group is the group that displays at the top of the list at Configuration > System Settings > Products & Services.

Products/Services

This is where you configure all your products and services. Each product must be assigned to an order page (products may also be hidden individually). A product which is in a hidden group cannot be edited while editing the package.
